

Public Works Projects Provide Jobs For 489 In March

The public works projects for area unemployed fathers picked up steam last month as 489 jobless men in four counties found work through the Hazard employment office.

Requests from towns, schools, communities, and state agencies for work crews are coming in as fast as the employment office can find the workers.

Perry County, Hazard and Vico were the first to utilize the work crews when the program started in February. The county and Hazard initially put crews of 30 men each to work, and Vico used 20.

Now Perry County has upped its request for workers to 100 as the requests for men continue to pour in from similar agencies from Jenkins to Jackson.

The Hazard state employment office has branches at Whitesburg and Jackson helping to process applications for jobs and workers.

Jackson, Hindman, Whitesburg, Neon and Fleming have all requested use of the workers in crews numbering from four to 32 men.

Work Crews Are In Demand

Knott and Letcher counties want 50 each to work on roads, the State Forestry Department has asked for two crews of 30 men each, and the State Highway Department wants two crews of 25 and 50 men.

The works projects here are part of a pilot program to determine the feasibility of extending its scope to other areas.

Seven Eastern Kentucky counties were involved in the initial project, Pike, Floyd, Letcher, Perry, Breathitt, Knott, and Leslie, Bell and Harlan counties have since been added.

Employment office officials indicated that the program may be a statewide enterprise by next year, which would squealch earlier rumors that the jobs would last only a few months.

Employment statistics for last month released today by the local employment office show an improvement in the area job picture over the same month last year, primarily because of public jobs made available to the unemployed fathers.

The office found 749 job openings last month, compared to 111 last year. It referred 782 job-seekers to employers compared to 182 last year, and 515 of these were hired, compared to only 88 a year ago.

Public Job Qualifications Listed

To qualify for state aid, a father must have been unemployed for 90 days, receive no unemployment insurance, have children of school or pre-school age, and be willing to work or to participate in job-training.

Most of these jobs were of the public works type though some openings in other positions such as maids, waitresses and even miners at small mines were also filled.

Men Described As Willing

Work supervisors at all levels have been unanimous in their praise of the willingness of the men to work.

Among the Perry County workers, according to State Supervisor J. Snead Yeager, there have been no instances of lateness to work or unauthorized absences.

The amount of aid an individual worker is eligible for is determined by the Public Assistance Office. A man is allotted work-time to equal the amount of money he is to draw, at a rate of $1 per hour.

Examples of some of the projects the men have been engaged in are city clean-up, unclogging drain ditches, road repair, and reforestation of land.

Late Taxes May Hurt Schools, Wooton Says

The Perry County School Board was told at its regular meeting Tuesday night that unless collection of county taxes is stepped up the school system's treasury may be in trouble soon.

Superintendent Dennis Wooton presented to the board a financial statement which showed county tax collection to be behind by over $46,000, most of it uncollected franchise tax.

Superintendent Wooton expressed concern that the county's support from the state minimum foundation fund would be jeopardized if the tax money is not in before October, and that many taxes are still to be collected.

The original budget estimate called for taxes of all sources to bring in to county schools $176,908.

In other action at the school board meeting, Wilma Jean Moore was hired as a teacher at the Little Leatherwood Grade School and Pearl Garrison and Alfred Napier were hired to replace as bus drivers Don Campbell and Dewey Brewer.

Garrison will transport students to and from the new Big Creek Elementary School and Napier will drive from Robinson to M. C. Napier.

The board also voted to pay the janitor at the Big Creek Elementary School $150 a month for his services.

At the conclusion of business on the agenda, each board member was invited to bring up new business.

Board member Dacker Combs of Happy used this opportunity to ask for a clarification of the school board's policy on sending out notices to teachers on supplementary salaries which warn them that their jobs may be changed next year.

Superintendent Wooton said that unless the board warns a teacher on supplementary pay of his possible future removal, then it is obliged to go on paying that teacher his supplementary salary whether or not he performs an extra duty such as coaching next year.

Six teachers have received such notices, including Combs Memorial High School basketball coaches Bill Back and Kenneth Colwell and school board office member Alonzo Combs.

Late in the meeting two teachers appeared before the board to ask that it consider revising the teacher pay system so that they would be paid over a twelve-month period rather than nine.

Hazard Rotary Club Hears Talk On NORAD

The Hazard Rotary Club was entertained at their Wednesday luncheon last week with an informative program on the North American Defense Command.

O'Neil Kidd, District Manager for General Telephone Co. of Kentucky, introduced the speaker Jim Whalen who is with General Telephone's Public Relations Department in Lexington.

The program provided a vivid description of how the United States would be able to defend itself in the event of an attack by an aggressive country. Communications were described as the keystone to our nation's ability to prevent an all out disaster from occurring in the event of attack.

One of the program's highlights came when a long distance call was actually placed to NORAD (North American Air Defense Command), located at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

The call was completed to Major Phillip Saulk, Briefing Officer for NORAD. Major Saulk explained NORAD to the group, gave a current report on the number of unidentified objects detected in the North American Continent during the past twenty (24) hours, and also described to the group some of the basic problems experienced by NORAD.

Judge Dixon Hits Democrats In Talk Here

Visiting Circuit Judge William Dixon told the Perry County Republican Women's Club Monday evening that President Johnson's administration is "attempting to be all things to all people."

In Hazard to preside over Perry Circuit Court after regularly disqualifying himself from presiding over this week's docket, Judge Dixon was the guest of honor and main speaker at the Republican Women's Club.

In attacking the present administration, Judge Dixon accused the government of attempting to place more officials in office by appointment than by public elections.

Other dignitaries present were State Representative Alex McIntyre of Hazard and Clay Gay, State Senator representing Leslie and Harlan Counties.

McIntyre told the Club he was in frequent touch with Highway Commissioner Henry Ward urging immediate extension of the Mountain Parkway in this direction.

Library To Seek County Tax Aid

The Bobby Davis Memorial Library board voted Tuesday night to seek Perry County tax money as a solution to its chronic financial problems.

The board was to have begun immediately the necessary steps to place on the November election ballots a proposal for levying a five cent per $100 assessed valuation tax on Perry County property owners as a means of finding a guaranteed annual income for the financially hard-pressed library.

The tax, if the voters approve it, would match one of equal amount which Hazard property owners have been paying for years for the library's upkeep.

The Bobby Davis library is a county institution, donated along with the rest of the memorial park by Lawrence Davis of Hazard in memory of his son Bobby who was killed in World War II.

The library presently operates on an annual budget of $7,000 of which Hazard taxpayers provide $8,000. The other $1,000 comes on a year-to-year basis from the Perry Fiscal Court.

Hoping to keep its State-aid alive and its bookmobile in operation until county voters have an opportunity to express themselves on ballots, the library board Tuesday night also moved to ask the Perry Fiscal Court to renew its annual $1,000 contribution in its next budget, and to ask the Perry County School Board for cash support in addition to the gas and oil it now provides the bookmobile vehicle.

The bookmobile is operating by virtue of a $1200 grant by a private individual. Some funds for its continuance were raised by the Kiwanis Club which sponsored an indoor circus for that purpose here last weekend.

A report rendered to the by jury to settle the complaint.

Perry County Sues L & N For $45,000

Perry County has sued the L & N Railroad for $45,000 for allegedly using since 1949 a county road right of way for a railroad bed.

The complaint was filed in the Circuit Court Clerk's office last week by County Attorney Calvin N. Manis.

The suit charges that the railroad wrongfully trespasses on a portion of the Viper-Fulton road near mile-post 255 and in so doing deprives citizens of the use of the road.

Manis said that persons affected by the alleged trespass have been complaining about it raised by the Kiwanis Club ever since the railroad installed a passing track on the property in question in the fall of 1949.

The County requested a trial by jury to settle the complaint.

Hazard Youth Was In Brazil During Government Overthrow

Mike Combs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Combs of Hazard now on tour of South American countries with the University of Illinois Symphony orchestra, was on hand for Brazil's main attraction last week: a military revolt that overthrew the government of former President Goulart.

In a phone call to his parents here Sunday night, young Combs described the scene in Rio de Janeiro as quiet and peaceful, and said the Brazilian people had been very nice and hospitable to him and his fellow University musicians.

Newspapers had earlier reported incidents in which Americans in Brazil had been unable to communicate by phone with relatives in this country, giving rise to fears for their safety.

Mike arrived in Brazil March 29 and will be there until April 16, when he and the 60 other members of the orchestra will leave for Argentina.

Their tour began January 31 and will continue through June.

Mike is a marimba and percussion instrumentalist in the orchestra.

Correspondent's Daughter Writes Poem About J.F.K.

By W. R. Williston

Attendance at the Christian Church and Sunday School last Sunday was 32; the offering was $14.24.

The church members had a real good service for Uncle Jack Fugate Sunday. He wasn't feeling well Sunday.

Ned Hoskins from Indiana is here to do some work on the home of Clarence Howard. Mr. Howard is teaching school and doesn't have the time to do it himself.

The Death of J. F. K.

By Muriel Williston Harmon
Formerly of Hazard, Ky.

The scene was set
To put on a play
For the largest audience yet.
The streets were lined
With folks to see
J. F. K. with his set.

The rain had stopped
The top was down
And this was part
Of the plot
To be played in
This Texas town.

Dallas is its name.
The T.V. cameras
were recording this
So the rest of us
could see
The folks of this Town welcoming Mr. K.

He waved to the right
And then to the left
His smile was as
Broad as the State.
There were his Friends
"I as sure" he thought
As he rode through
This Texas town.

They all were his friends
I as sure of this
Even at the poles
Because that's the way
We do things
In this good old U.S.A.

They all were his friends.
All but one.
And he had not made
His appearance yet
An appearance we'll
Always regret.

He came to work
that day
With a purpose we
may never understand.
The package he carried
"was a venetian blind"
he said.
But maybe 12:50
Worth of death.

Calmly he sat
and lunch he ate,
Chicken so they say;
Calmly waiting
To deliver his message
To our then young
President.

Down Houston he came to turn at Elm
then go on his mercy deliver a speech
to the folks of this town.
Dallas is its name.

He waved and waved
to the folks who came to see him there.
He was the man
voted in as the
Head of our promised
Land.

About that time
The end came Shots came
Raining down
At the corner of
Houston and Elm
Streets
Where death met
Mr. K.

This scene was viewed with disbelief.
"This could not happen
Here"
Is what the people
were heard to say
In Dallas and the U.S.A.

In a little while
We hear
The killer has been Caught.
We wait and watch
and wonder
What will happen
next.
To the man who carried a package
with maybe 12:50
worth of death.

Our visitors Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hoskins and daughter, Edna, from Crestwood, Ky.; John M. Hoskins and little son, Jeffery, from Leslie County; Mrs. Clarence Howard, Mrs. Sue Hoskins and daughter Sandra, of Indiana; Mrs. James Wooton and two children from Krypton, and Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Combs and son, Jerry Randell, of Hazard.

Our visitors Sunday evening were Jane and Judy Combs and Nancy Wooton.

Then we saw it
Happen
Right before our Eyes.
The man accused of
The killing
Would now be Judged himself.

Mr. K. received the prayers of our nation
And other nations too.
So now we leave him
In good hands
In a place we all
Know well
With the Eternal Flame
To mark his grave
Among others who
Have served us well.

Gen. MacArthur's Picture

While watching the throngs of people viewing the body of Gen. Douglas MacArthur today, I thought back to around 20 years ago, when they had a Bond sale in Hazard. They had several prizes in the window which were to be auctioned off. Among them was a picture of Douglas MacArthur today. It was in a beautiful frame, and I had my head set to get it, when they started the bidding on it, some man was bidding against me, when it ran to $625.00 he said let her have it, and I still have the picture, of course we were only paying for the Savings Bonds. O. S. Warren and Roy Baker were the auctioneers.

A Letter From AUNT MAGGIE

Box 495,
Hazard, Kentucky

Dear Jenny:

I know how happy you were to get the Easter card from the boy you like and I'm glad for you. It changes your whole outlook on life and makes you want to smile and be friendly with everyone doesn't it?

I hope you can be a friendly person because there are so many people who are lonely and need the sunshine of a friendly smile.

Sometimes when I walk down the street and look at people's faces, they look so solemn and sometimes they look mean. If we could only talk to them and get past the barrier of being strangers we'd know that they want to talk and be friendly too. And when they smile, they don't look mean or solemn any more.

A number of years ago I noticed a lady as she passed my house. She was an elderly lady and she always looked so cross I wondered about her. I determined that I was going to make her smile. Every time I'd pass her or meet her I'd say, "Hi how are you?" The first few times she'd only look at me. Then she'd smile, and finally she answered my "Hi" with a "Hi" of her own. Then came that happy day when we stopped and talked and discovered we had mutual interests. I found out she wasn't cross at all, only wrapped up in her problems and needed a friendly smile.

Recently I read of a German girl, named Inger, who came to this country and because she couldn't speak much English she couldn't do anything but housework. She was hired as a cook for a girl's residence hall. None of the girls paid much attention to her and one evening when two of the girls came into the reading room they smelled something strange. "Gas!" They exclaimed together, and ran to the kitchen which was beneath the reading room. Inger was stretched out on the floor. They hurriedly took her out into the yard, but it was too late. Later they found a note which read something like this:

"I live in a house with many girls but they do not talk to me. It is too lonely."

The friendliest people are Christians. People who have the love of Christ in their hearts also have His compassion for others and they want to reach out to help wherever help is needed.

Jesus is the most wonderful friend of all. Not many people would take your punishment for the wrong you do, but Jesus died for us so that we might not have to suffer death for our sins.

It is my prayer that many people would realize what it means to be forgiven of their sins by asking Jesus to come into their hearts and save them. I'm glad you've found a church where you can truly worship the Lord and find the right kind of friends.

Good night, and don't forget what John Oxenham said, Art thou lonely, O my brother? Share thy time with another, Stretch a hand to one unfriended.

And thy loneliness is ended.
Love,
Aunt Maggie

Tax For Library Needed

The official board of the Bobby Davis Memorial Library moved Tuesday night to seek a permanent answer to the library's chronic financial problems through a small tax on county property owners. The board will attempt to have placed on the ballot in the fall election a proposal to assess each taxpayer five cents for each $100 assessed valuation of his property, the money to go directly to support and maintain the library.

If anybody objects to this move of the library board he is silly indeed. A small tax such as the one the board will seek to place on the ballot for the voters' approval is precisely what the library has needed ever since it was founded.

Some county tax payers may object on the mistaken assumption that the Bobby Davis Library is a city library. This is far from true. The library belongs to the county as much as the court house does. Over a third of the people who come into the library to read or borrow books live in the county, and more would be welcome if they would only come. And the bookmobile, which has been so popularly received, is operated exclusively for county readers.

The Bobby Davis Library operates on a budget of $7,000 a year. Hazard tax payers have been paying a five cent tax on each $100 assessed valuation of their property for years now, and $6,000 of the total budget comes from this source. The Perry Fiscal Court has contributed the other thousand dollars on a year-to-year basis. Out of this meager sum must come the salary for a full-time librarian, all her materials and maintenance and operation of the building which Lawrence Davis so generously donated to the county in memory of his son Bobby, who was killed in World War II. In its eighteen-year history the library has never been free of financial worries. It has lived a hand-to-mouth existence and consequently has had no opportunity to grow to its full potential.

The library is as important to Perry County as a school is. It contains the reference and reading material needed so desperately by county school children who have no libraries of their own. It holds thousands of books for the enlightenment and pleasure of adult readers who live in a book-starved area.

The library operates at its present capacity largely due to the considerable aid it receives from the State. Basic to the State's contribution of books and funds is the county's own willingness to do its share. The State requires the Fiscal Court to put up $1,000 a year at the minimum before it is interested in helping Perry County. This has been a great strain upon a financially hard-pressed fiscal court and to its great credit the court has so far been able to come through with its commitment. It recently paid $1,000 it pledged last year in the 1963-64 budget. Now it will be called upon to pledge another $1,000 for next year before July 1. If it does not pledge this money by then the library will lose all its state aid, including the bookmobile.

If anyone doubts the value of the bookmobile, let him ask the school children and the parents of those children who have access to its facilities. Many of the children have written letters of appreciation which this newspaper has printed. Since it began operation in December the bookmobile has circulated thousands of books among county children who would otherwise have had nothing on which to broaden their reading skills.

Yet, as valuable and necessary as it is, the bookmobile is threatened on every side for lack of funds. It was begun by and is operating now thanks to a $1200 grant and servicing of the vehicle by the county school system. Its continuance is dependent upon begging money here and there. The Kiwanis Club, bless 'em, staged a circus last weekend and raised several hundred dollars for the bookmobile. And the county school board will be asked in the near future to try to find some cash for the support of the bookmobile. But clearly this is not the way to run such a vital enterprise. The library and the bookmobile are far too important to depend upon a chance continuance.

That is why the small tax that voters will be asked to approve next fall is so essential: to give the library enough funds to operate at its full potential, with assurance that what it begins today will not be ended tomorrow because the money isn't there.

For most taxpayers their assessment will probably be less than one dollar per year or the price of two magazines. For that amount, county taxpayers will join the city taxpayers in providing each reader with access to books that could not be bought for many thousands of dollars.

How can you beat that for a bargain?

The author of "From Here To Eternity" tells the story of an American infantry company on Guadalcanal in 1942-43, how some died, some survived and all suffered while fighting the Japanese on the jungle island.

The Ordeal of Power

"Intensely interesting, frequently startling... there will be twinges and muttering over what Mr. Hughes has reported."—New York Tribune. "As vivid and acute a memoir of the period as we are likely to get"—The New Yorker.

The Great Hunger

by Cecil Woodham-Smith

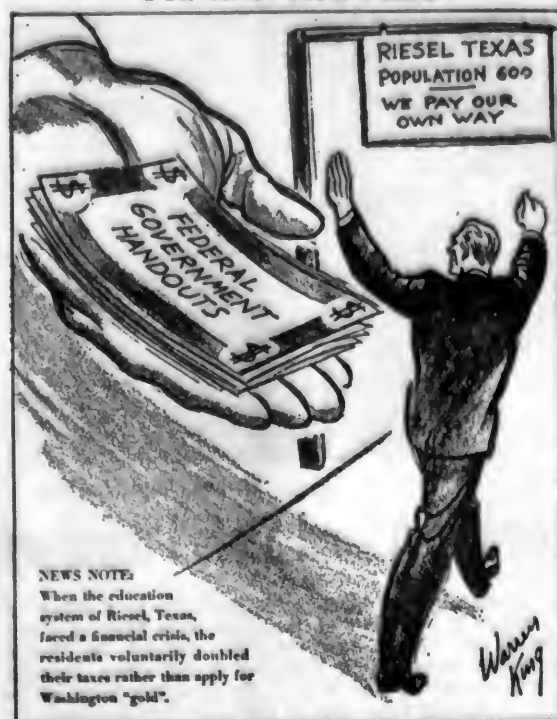

The brilliant author of "The Reason Why" tells the story of the potato famine of the 1840's which killed a million Irish peasants, sent hundreds of thousands to the New World and bled Ireland white. Criticizes Last Week's Editorial

APPALACHIAN COMMITTEE FOR FULL EMPLOYMENT

I wish to comment a little upon what was proposed to be an editorial in a local newspaper. I was always under the impression that an editorial was a factual discussion of the merits or demerits upon a particular question which would affect the public in general.

This thing went so far as to disparage the physical features and wearing apparel of the student body from all the colleges the students represented. It even went so far as to hint or suggest that the people of this county should have met them at the county line and turned them back. It also went so far as to print an unsigned letter about that bunch at Allais. I wonder if they could verify that letter and who would verify their verification?

They also never miss a chance to try to convict Berman Gibson in the public mind before trial and before hearing the evidence. We offered the public in general a chance to participate in the affairs of this organization which they refused. I wonder who is doing more to relieve the suffering of the people in Eastern Kentucky than the Appalachian Committee for full employment and its social workers sent in here by the churches, social agencies and labor organizations. Lots of these people who are really interested in social work hitch hikes their way in here and shows by their works that they are really interested.

The delegation of miners who went to Washington, D.C. formed the Appalachian Committee for Full Employment by the direction of Mr. George Reedy, President's Aide to aid and assist the government in the unemployed situation.

The reference to the students as "furriners" in my opinion, is a direct intentional hit below the belt, far enough below the margin of safety to permit for an error of judgement, and proclaims the intent and purpose of this thing called an editorial.

It also says, (quote) The students revealed themselves as naive, and naive people can be manipulated, led and controlled by people who are not. (end quote) I wonder if they think the people of this county are naive enough to be controlled, led and manipulated by their conception of what the students should wear, comb their hair or trim their beard.

This thing they call an editorial deliberately ignored the important things that were discussed at the Conference, such as Automation, Education, Poverty, better school houses, the inefficiency of all government programs and a host of other ills. I wonder if this omission was part of their plan to manipulate, lead and control the thoughts and the minds of the few who happen to read this thing they call an editorial.

In my opinion their stock weapon of hollowing communism in Eastern Kentucky is about to backfire and point the finger of guilt at this thing called an editorial.

What the people of Eastern Kentucky needs is a newspaper free from malice, hatred and contempt and with knowledge enough to lead the people instead of dividing them. This is one of the objectives of the Appalachian Committee For Full Employment.

Annexation Fuss Hit

Because the whole issue of Lothair's proposed annexation to Hazard could have been resolved amicably if the right approach had been taken, the bitterness that is beginning to mark the negotiations between the citizens of both communities is disappointing in the extreme.

The State's mandate that we clean up the river is the immediate cause for the push to annex Lothair, to provide that community with a way to dispose of its waste other than dumping it into the river. The State doesn't want the river cleaned up just so it will look nice. The State realizes, as we here apparently don't, that we drink the stuff in the river and it isn't pure. Surely the citizens of Hazard and Lothair do not need some far-away government official to tell us that is an intolerable situation.

In all probability Lothair will be annexed and the problem of a "clean" water source eventually solved. But the shame of it is that so far the exploratory annexation procedures are not being carried out through mutual cooperation of both communities.

Hazard officials seem to have made two main mistakes in dealing with Lothair residents. First, somehow, the water-line project played such utter havoc with Lothair streets that many residents there are still rightly mad at the city and don't want anything to do with it. Second, the city has so far been unable to communicate to Lothair residents that its intentions are honorable, that they will in fact get a sewer line once they come into the city.

It does not seem too much to ask that the city give Lothair some reasonable approximation of just when a sewer line will be extended there and how much it will cost. Many people at Lothair think Hazard wants to annex the community for its own immediate, selfish purposes, that they will not have a sewer line ten years from now, perhaps never. It is the city's responsibility to convince Lothair with facts and figures of the sincerity of its purpose.

On the other hand, it is unreasonable for Lothair to expect the Mayor and City Commissioners to take pick and shovel in hand and install a nice sewer system there between now and Memorial Day. This won't happen. No overnight miracles will happen. A sewer must be provided for Lothair and it will if it becomes a part of Hazard. But it is unreasonable to expect that it will come immediately or free of charge.

As for the street mess, is it too much to ask that Lothair forgive an error and be glad to have the water?

The positive benefits of combining the two communities are many and they must be emphasized. Let's hope the leaders of both communities spare no effort in getting together and talking about them before the barriers between them grow too high.

EDITORIAL

More On Student Visitors

Last week's editorial titled "The Student Visitors" drew two letters-to-the editor in response, one in praise and agreement, the other sharply critical of what we had to say about the students who were here for the conference sponsored by Berman Gibson's Appalachian Committee For Full Employment at the Allais Union Hall. In keeping with our custom of printing all signed letters to The Herald, the letters are reprinted on today's editorial page.

The letter which disagreed with our editorial came in mimeographed form from the Appalachian Committee For Full Employment and was signed by the organization's recording secretary, Everett Tharp. At the risk of flaying the same subject to the point of boredom, but because of the obvious misunderstanding of our editorial as revealed by Mr. Tharp's comments on it, we feel some words of clarification are necessary lest the Full Employment Committee conclude by our silence that its gross misunderstandings are in fact correct.

Mr. Tharp says: "It (the editorial last week) even went so far as to hint or suggest that the people of this county should have met them (the students) at the county line and turned them back."

This interpretation of our comment is the precise opposite of the meaning we intended to convey. In a careful reading of the editorial will show. In context, this is what we said:

"Many citizens were offended by the mere presence of the students last weekend. A few would likely have been in favor of turning them back at the county line. This kind of attitude serves no constructive purpose. All such students should be welcomed to our city and county with the hospitality that is traditional among mountain people."

Our point was that those citizens who wanted to keep the students out of Hazard were wrong. We were criticizing such citizens and defending the right of the students to come here, as any careful reading of our article would plainly show.

Mr. Tharp accuses the Herald of disparaging the students "physical features and wearing apparel." We did not criticize the students for the way they dressed. We said:

"Certainly every man has a right to dress as he pleases and there is no law against beards... we don't care how the students dress as long as they do." We went on to add, however, that because of the innate suspicion the mountaineer has of people who are different from him, the students did their cause no good by dressing as flamboyantly as they did, proclaiming themselves, in the old-time mountain idiom, as "furriners."

We mentioned that "the most inexperienced Peace Corps trainees understand that basic to his mission of influencing people who are different from him is to be as much like them as possible."

We concluded, and still do that the students' manner of dress showed their political naivete.

Mr. Tharp further wrote: "This thing they call an editorial deliberately ignored the important things that were discussed at the Conference, such as Automation, Education, Poverty, better school houses, the inefficiency of all government programs and a host of other ills."

Our editorial last week was designed as a discussion in search of an answer to the question, What did a weekend in Perry County mean to the students who came here from so far away? Reporting of the conference was confined to our front page. If Mr. Tharp is critical of the way the Herald covered, as news, the Allais conference, perhaps he should discuss it with Berman Gibson, who made a point of commending before the students the Herald's front page news story that announced the conference. The Herald also carried a follow-up story at the conclusion of the conference.

Since the letter from Mr. Tharp was mimeographed, we assume that other copies were circulated among followers and supporters of the Full Employment Committee, perhaps to the students who were the subject of our original editorial. We do not know if the organization's strange, twisted interpretation of our editorial is intentional or not but even if it isn't it is none the less far from the mark of truth.

SUPPORT THE POOL!

Since we did not receive any letters in support of our editorial stressing the need for a public swimming pool here, our conclusion is that laziness is the cause. We know the desire for the pool exists in the mind of the public, however latently. We would like nothing better than to be flooded with letters in support of the idea. We hope we get a hundred letters. We'll print them all, if they come to us signed.

The President And The War On Poverty....

By President Lyndon B. Johnson

We are citizens of the richest and most fortunate nation in the history of the world.

One hundred and eighty years ago we were a small country struggling for survival in the margin of a hostile land.

Today we have established a civilization of free men which spans an entire continent.

With the growth of our country has come opportunity for our people—opportunity to educate our children, to use our energies in productive work, to increase our leisure—opportunity for almost every American to hope that through work and talent he could create a better life for himself and his family.

The path forward has not been an easy one.

But we have never lost sight of our goal: an America in which every citizen shares all the opportunities of his society, in which every man has a chance to advance his welfare to the limit of his capacities.

We have come a long way toward this goal.

We still have a long way to go.

The distance which remains is the measure of the great unfinished work of our society.

To finish that work I have called for a national war on poverty. Our objective: total victory.

There are millions of Americans—one-fifth of our people—who have not shared in the abundance which has been granted to most of us, and to whom the gates of opportunity have been closed.

What does this poverty mean to those who endure it?

It means a daily struggle to secure the necessities for even a meager existence. It means that the abundance, the comforts, the opportunities they see all around them are beyond their grasp.

Worst of all, it means hopelessness for the young.

The young man or woman who grows up without a decent education, in a broken home, in a hostile and squalid environment, in ill health or in the face of racial injustice—that young man or woman is often trapped in a life of poverty.

He does not have the skills demanded by a complex society. He does not know how to acquire those skills. He faces a mounting sense of despair which drains initiative and ambition and energy.

Our tax cut will create millions of new jobs—new exits from poverty. But we must also strike down all the barriers which keep many from using these exits.

The war on poverty is not a struggle simply to support people, to make them dependent on the generosity of others.

It is a struggle to give people a chance.

It is an effort to allow them to develop and use their capacities, as we have been allowed to develop and use ours, so that they can share, as others share, in the promise of this nation.

We do this, first of all, because it is right that we should.

From the establishment of public education and land grant colleges through agricultural extension and encouragement to industry, we have pursued a goal of a nation with full and increasing opportunities for all its citizens.

Giving new opportunity to those who have little will enrich the lives of all the rest.

Because it is right, because it is wise, and because, for the first time in our history, it is possible to conquer poverty, I submit, for the consideration of the Congress and the country, the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

Beatty Files for Judge Court of Appeals

Judge E. B. Beatty, of Beattyville, has been proposed for both the Republican and Democratic nominations for Judge of the Court of Appeals in the Seventh Appellate District at the primary election to be held on May 26, 1964, and papers for said candidacy have been filed in the office of the Secretary of State at Frankfort.

Judge Beatty has served twelve years as Judge of the twenty-third judicial district composed of Estill, Lee and Owsley counties.

He obtained his early education in his home town and at Centre College at Danville. He graduated from the Law School of Washington & Lee University with the degree of Bachelor of Laws, since which time he has practiced law except during the time he served on the bench as Circuit Judge. He has served also as Special Judge in judicial districts other than his own. He married the former Miss Genevieve Spurrier of Louisville.

Judge Beatty is well and favorably known throughout the State. He has held many positions of honor and trust, among which were Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, F. & A. M.; Grand Patron of the Order of the Eastern Star of Kentucky; and Supreme Watchman of Shepherds of the Order of the White Shrine. He is a Shriner, and a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason Knight Commander of the Court of Honor, and belongs to all the various Masonic bodies.

He has been active in civic affairs, church work and fraternal activities for many years. He served seven years as Chairman of his home chapter of American Red Cross. Was chairman of the war bond sales in his county. He is now and for the past ten years has been Chairman on behalf of crippled children in Lee County. Many times, at his own expense, he has taken crippled children from his county to the hospitals and clinics in Lexington and elsewhere or examination and treatment. He is a past president of his Kiwanis Club, and has served as a Lieutenant Governor of the Kentucky-Tennessee Kiwanis District.

A few years ago it was chiefly through his efforts that a new and modern school building was erected in Beattyville now known as the Beattyville Grade School.

For two years he was President of the Natural Bridge State Park Association, and is now a Director on the Board.

In January, 1964, the Beattyville Kiwanis Club selected and awarded a certificate to Judge E. B. Beatty as the Outstanding Citizen of Lee County for the year 1963, which reeked many of his worthwhile activities and referred to him while Circuit Judge as "Having made an enviable record as a jurist".

New Dams Help Combat Floods

NELSON COUNTY'S new highway-fill dam and lake on U. S. 62 near Bardstown is one of 12 constructed during the past four years as part of the State's Small Lakes Program which helped hold down flood crests during the severe floods which struck many areas of Kentucky during March. The water held back by this highway-fill dam not only helped alleviate water damage downstream, but also filled the lake for recreational use this summer. The Small Lakes Program currently has several other dams under construction or in the planning stage.

"The Sweetest Sugar Ever Sold"

A good garden soil is capable of producing large yields of high-quality vegetables. It is 10 to 12 inches deep and can hold large amounts of water, but it drains quickly after a rain. It is easily prepared into a good seedbed and remains in a crumbly condition throughout the growing season. It warms up quickly in the spring and yet does not become too hot in the summer. It is well supplied with plant food and has an abundance of organic matter.

You can build or keep up a soil such as this by supplying manure or other forms of organic materials such as compost, rotted leaves, straw, sawdust, or a good cover crop 6 to 8 inches high, each year. A 2-inch covering of one of the materials mentioned above will supply enough organic matter.

None of them will supply all the plant food needed. If you use manure, apply 500 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate per acre. Apply 1,000 pounds of 5-10-10, 6-12-12, or 4-12-8 fertilizer per acre, when other organic materials or cover crops are used.

Soil Management — Improve soil structure by adding organic materials. These materials increase the soil's water-holding capacity but at the same time improve drainage. Don't destroy the benefits from the adding organic matter by plowing or working the soil when it is too wet. Protect soil from erosion with cover crops or by plowing and leaving it in the rough until you plant seeds. Rains may wash away the most valuable portion of the soil if it is not protected during winter.

without knowing they had termite troubles. Termites announce their presence by swarming in the spring and you can start doing something about them. If you see termites swarming in or around your home in future weeks, take advantage of the warning — find out if your home has termite infestation. If so, you should start control measures immediately.

Termite control centers around poisoning the soil in which the termites live. In most cases, this is not an easy job and may require the assistance of a trained, well-equipped pest control operator. If you use a pest control operator be sure to get an estimate from at least two established firms, since unqualified, "fly-by-night" exterminators operate in all areas.

A good bulletin on termite prevention and control — "Subterranean Termite" — (USDA Home and Garden Bulletin No. 64) is available.

Sen. Thruston Morton Declares "Favorite Son" Nomination

The Hazard Herald, Hazard, Ky. It has been called to my attention that a proposed Resolution was circulated throughout Kentucky last week with the suggestion that it be adopted at the many Republican County Conventions held last Saturday and also at the Republican District and State Conventions scheduled for April 10 and 11. The suggested Resolution reads, in part, that "The Delegates and Alternates to the National Convention of the Republican Party from the Commonwealth of Kentucky are instructed to support, on the first ballot of the said Convention, for the nomination for the Presidency of the United States, our favorite son, the Honorable Thruston Morton." I am personally most grateful and deeply appreciate of the confidence these fellow Kentuckians have in my ability to hold the high office of President by seeking to instruct the Kentucky Delegation in my behalf on the first ballot. However, I have sincerely felt for a long time that the Kentucky Delegation should go to San Francisco uninstructed, uncommitted and unpledged. I still hold to that conviction. I think that our Delegates can best serve our nation, our state of Kentucky and our Republican Party by going as an uninstructed and unpledged Delegation. It is my hope that at Friday's District Conventions and at Saturday's State Convention this position will prevail.

Thruston B. Morton

WISH I SAID THAT Fair Labor Act Rules On Children In School

"Children of any age may work on farms after school hours, on weekends, or holidays, but when school is in session youngsters under 16 belong in the classroom."

That's the word from Pat Meloon, Regional Director of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, the agency which administers the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The Act sets a 16-year age minimum for children working in agriculture when school is in session in the district where

Pfc. Clyde Franks Serves in Germany

U. S. ARMY EUROPE (AHT NC)—Army PFC Clyde Franks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Franks, Route 1, Hazard, Ky., is serving with the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment's 3rd Reconnaissance Squadron in Germany.

The members of Franks' unit maintain constant surveillance of the sensitive East-West German border through the use of jeep-mounted patrols and observation and listening posts.

The 20-year-old soldier, a driver in the squadron's Troop near Bad Hersfeld, Germany, entered the Army in August 1961 and completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

the child is living while work ing. It applies to employment in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for interstate commerce.

"This means the law's child-labor provisions are applicable to farmers who ship products, or have reason to believe that their products will be shipped, into other States," Meloon explained. This includes farmers who supply canneries which ship the canned goods out of the State.

Some families follow the crops from one State to another. Mr. Meloon said that the law applies equally to children of these migrant families. The only exception is the child working exclusively for his parents or guardian on their own farm.

"If State and Federal laws on the employment of children differ," Meloon added, "the higher standards should be observed."

Mr. Meloon reminded youngsters that a high-school education is practically a necessity these days when there are fewer and fewer job opportunities for unskilled labor. He urged them to stay in school and graduate.

Additional information on the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act may be obtained from local offices of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions. The

that will help you make the best mattress buy!

FACT 1

MORE PEOPLE SLEEP ON BEAUTYREST THAN ON ANY OTHER MATTRESS! So when you buy Beautyrest you know you're getting the mattress that has proven itself best for comfort and rest. In other mattresses springs sag together under your weight. Each Beautyrest spring works separately, independently from every other one.

FACT 2

ONLY BEAUTYREST HAS SEPARATE BACK SUPPORTING SPRINGS THAT PUSH UP IN THE SMALL OF YOUR BACK. There's better body support built into the Beautyrest coil unit because only Beautyrest has separate springs to fit the curve of your back. And because it has buoyant firmness, Beautyrest will not rob you of comfort and sleep—as do so many so-called posture mattresses.

FACT 3

IN A SERIES OF DURABILITY TESTS BEAUTYREST WAS PROVEN TO LAST 3 TIMES AS LONG AS THE NEXT BEST MATTRESS TESTED BY THE NATIONWIDE CONSUMER TESTING INSTITUTE, INC. So if you're out to save money, it pays to insist on longer-lasting Beautyrest. In the long run, the best actually costs the least. Important to know with many so-called "Bargain buys" on the market today.

FACT 4

IN 60,000,000 SLEEP RECORDINGS MADE UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THE SLEEP RESEARCH FOUNDATION, BEAUTYREST WAS PROVEN TO GIVE MORE DEEP SLEEP THAN ANY OF THE OTHER LEADING MATTRESSES TESTED. The more deep sleep you get, the more refreshed you are in the morning. That's why, when you buy Beautyrest—you're assured of maximum healthful rest.

FACT 5

ONLY BEAUTYREST GIVES SINGLE-BED COMFORT IN A DOUBLE BED BECAUSE ONLY BEAUTYREST HAS SEPARATE SPRINGS FOR EACH SLEEPER! Beautyrest's springs are separate and independent. Press down on one Beautyrest spring and others are not affected. No rolling together. The heaviest husband cannot disturb his wife's rest.

FACT 6

THE PRESIDENT OF SHERATON HOTELS SAYS: "With 49 of America's leading hotels, we pride ourselves on hospitality and comfort. Beautyrest is the only mattress we now buy". And Beautyrest is the only mattress that has passed the minimum performance standards of the American Hotel Association.

FACT 7

BEAUTYREST PROTECTS YOU, THE SHOPPER. As stated by Grant Simmons, Jr., President of Simmons Company: "Beautyrest is never offered with an artificial, inflated list price. Others do this continually. The advertised price is slashed down to the actual price of the mattress as a 'come-on'. Beautyrest always means what it says—and it gives you $79.50 value for $79.50!"

Try a Beautyrest in Your Own Home at Our Risk

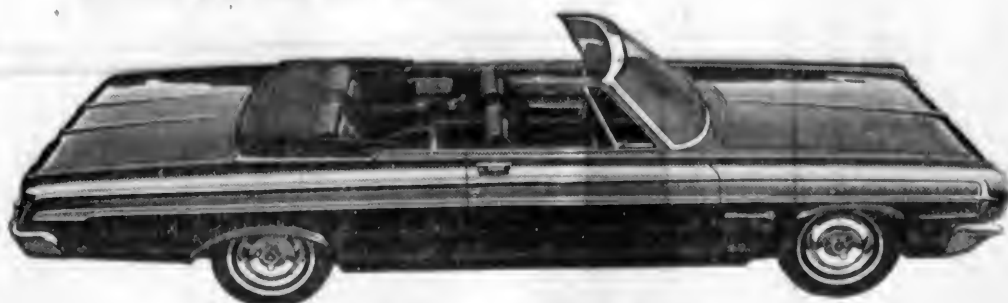

Sleep on it for 30 nights. If you're not convinced it's the finest mattress you ever owned, your guest trial won't cost a single cent. Come in today, arrange to be our guest for 30 nights of buoyant, heavenly sleeping. Full or twin size, comfort on a Beautyrest mattress, made only by Simmons. $79.50

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

We have designs to get you in our power

Our engineers are a wily group of guys who spend most of their time dreaming up ways to win your approval. Take the Dodge Polara 500. You'd be hard-pressed to find a car that's got more going for you. Deeply-padded, contour-formed bucket seats. All-vinyl upholstery. Silt-to-silt carpeting. Padded dash. Center console. And lots of other trimmings. But that's only the half of it.

Perhaps our approach to power will further illustrate the point.

With the Polara 500 you aren't baked in on a certain engine. You can choose from a standard 318 cu. in. V8 up to a street-version of our wallowing, all-out 426 cu. in. Ramcharger V8. Compromise? Nope. We just feel that a freedom of choice is the surest road to your approval.

That's our way of doing business—giving you lots of car and lots of satisfaction at a price that's hard to quarrel with.

Your Dodge Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the point.

antiknock compound since Ethyl

Methyl

Our new refinery at Pascagoula, now producing the new Standard Methyl gasoline, is America's most modern refinery.

It's a new gasoline discovery! New Methyl* steps up octane performance so effectively that it stops power-wasting knock better than any other antiknock compound. Methyl stands up under extreme temperatures, spreads more evenly throughout all cylinders of your engine. No other gasoline has anything like it! And it's in Standard gasolines (Crown and Crown Extra)

...at no increase in price! Another important way that we take better care of your car.

John Prewitt Files For Office

John Marshall Prewitt, Mt. Sterling attorney, has cross-filed for the Democratic and Republican nomination for Judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals from the 7th Judicial district, which includes this county.

Prewitt is fortyone, is married to the former Kate Breckinridge, and is the father of two children.

Prewitt is the author of a recently published pamphlet "To Support the Constitution", in which he blamed radical and unconstitutional decisions of the United States Supreme Court and of the Kentucky Court of Appeals for creating chaos in the law, and threatening private property, resulting in unrest in this county.

Prewitt has been City Attorney of Clay City in Powell County for the last two years. He is a Navy veteran of World War II and of the Korean War. He is treasurer of the First Presbyterian Church in Mount Sterling.

HILL TALK

by The Journalism Class, Hazard High School

A letter from the Taylor Publishing Company, Dallas, Texas, states that the 1964 BULLDOG was shipped the 27th day of March. The yearbooks should be here and ready for distribution by April 13th. There are still a few which may be purchased from Sally Ward Maggard or Mrs. Stone at the H.H.S. office. The selling price now is $6.00.

Mr. Gurney Norman, Hazard Herald News Editor, was the guest of the H.H.S. Journalism Class on Tuesday, March 31st. He spoke on different aspects of the field of journalism as a career and answered questions students had about publications.

Mr. Norman, originally from Hazard, completed high school at Stuart Robinson, earned his degree from the University of Kentucky's school of Journalism, and studied on a creative writing scholarship at Stanford University, in California. He has just completed service as a sergeant in the U. S. Army.

When students asked him his opinion of the "Behind the Ears" gossip column, which is currently a source of discord between students and sponsor, Mr. Norman replied that if the reader interest of "On The Hill" is considered that the BTE is "the backbone of your paper."

Tony and Terry Zoellers, H. H.S. juniors and twin brother and sister, were honored by their mother's selection as "Lady of the Year" by the Beta Sigma Phi sorority. Mrs. C. A. Zoellers has been a familiar sight at H.H.S. during the past three years since the organization of the High School Gardeners. Every other week the advisors of this club, among which she has been active, come to the building for a program.

The Hazard High Library boasts a spectacular and attractive flower arrangement which was made at the last meeting of the High School Gardeners, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Sigmon. Although the flowers are artificial, they are seasonal, and the effect produced has brought forth many admiring comments.

Mrs. Robert Marcum, Home Economics teacher, is confined to Mount Mary Hospital, where she has undergone surgery. In her absence the classes are being conducted by Mrs. Peyton Mitchell. Flowers, cards, and visitors from H.H.S. are streaming to Mrs. Marcum's bedside.

Ashland Dealers From several Areas Hold Meeting

Ashland Oil dealers from the Harlan, Hazard, London, Manchester and Whitesburg area met last night at the V.F.W. Club, Hazard, to hear company representatives outline marketing plans for the months ahead.

George Brackman, district sales manager from Mt. Sterling, described the company's plans for a number of special sales events this summer. He also explained how Ashland Oil is supporting various national, state and local programs to attract vacation and other warm-weather travelers to this area.

Tourism is one of the state's largest sources of income, he added.

Guest speakers were Clifford N. Goff, merchandising manager, and Homer R. Hays, sales manager for tires, batteries and accessories, both of the Ashland Marketing Division, Ashland, Ky.

Both Goff and Hays detailed the summer marketing and merchandising schedule, forecasting a record year in Ashland Oil service station activity. Also participating was E. J. Richle, a marketing area supervisor from London, Ky.

The meeting at Hazard was one of 40 scheduled this month for some 3,500 Ashland Oil dealers from Tennessee to the Great Lakes.

Woman's Society To Meet Apr. 16

The Woman's Society of the Kentucky Conference is planning to hold its annual meeting April 16-17 at the Centenary Methodist Church in Lexington, Kentucky.

Guest speaker for the meeting will be Miss Marian L. Derby, chairman of staff for the department of work in foreign fields. She has administered the work in Cuba, Mexico, Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Costa Rica, Peru and Uruguay for the past nine years.

Miss Derby is well informed concerning the peoples and problems of these foreign fields.

She also takes an active part in the national council of churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and the world council of churches. She was a delegate to the assembly of the International Missionary Council held in Accra Ghana, Africa in 1957. Several women from the Bar-Gourville district will attend.
